Have you a little dog at your home to pay taxes on?

The "outside lobby" is on the outside looking in.

There are several mad dog owners in Alabama today who don't own a mad dog.

The legislature starts off doz-days by passing a law taxing dogs. Next

"Me and Gott" know no international law and respect no treaties. Understand?

Bonner's bull bill seems to have been run in by Brown's bull dog bill.

If some folks could stretch their imagination like they can the truth they'd see wonders.

When the legislature gets through scraping up revenue

there will be no need for a bond issue.

Trust in the Lord and do good,

and elect a legislature and thou shalt dwell in the land and verily thou shalt be taxed.

Nashville, like a business that is done that way, was managed and a receiver had to be appointed.

"A contrb sends in word that perhaps Sarah Bernhardt can explain why one lady wears flesh colored stockings. Well, we leave it up to Sarah"—Macon

Telegraph. Sarah don't wear but one now.

Now it is proposed to let the three largest cities in the state sell beer while the balance of the state wanders in the desert.

We're again it because Alabama's entire population couldn't afford to move to these three cities.

Twenty-two wagons from the country with produce to sell stopped in front of one grocery store here Saturday morning up to nine o'clock. The farmers and truck growers have made good crops of vegetables this year and they are finding ready sale at good prices for it in Dothan.

A cartoon showing a man chewing tobacco and saying by heck

I'm smoking a color. That's a good thing. You explain.

The School in the Woods.

By Dr. Frank Crane

Every once in a while you come across something that makes you glad to think that the world of men is not entirely wrapped up in conventional ideas, that a few brave, free spirits yet exist.

One of these cheering things is "The Little School in the Woods" recently established in New Lagland.

It is actually in the woods, real big woods, forest primeval where there are leafy mazes, winding paths, a regular brook that gurgles as a brook should, places for camp fires, a lake, and all sorts of birds and wild, furry creatures.

And there a few people who see the educational problem with open eyes, unclouded by tradition have a school with no ideas except the beautiful, simple, and clear ideas that reason gives.

The first principle laid down in this school is that the child has an unalienable right TO BE HAPPY.

Learning, deportment, skill, and all such things come best through happiness, not through threats and repression. Isn't that a glorious idea?

Then, also, they teach here mostly through play. A child's free efforts at self-expression are skilfully guided. If you want him to work, let him play, he works at play to times. Under him at a task, it is the business of the teacher to know how to make play as an educational process.

The children learn here, but knowledge comes as the adjunct to effort. The teacher never made men to learn first and then do, the real learning comes through doing.

So almost every minute is spent out of doors, the little hands ever doing, doing, doing.

Here's the way these wise teachers put it. Outdoor life gives the children first-hand experience in rocks, trees, bugs, water fire—which is another way of saying elementary biology, with hills, streams, distances, directions, boundaries—which is another way of saying geography with figures, rulers, compasses, measures, account books—which is another way of saying arithmetic, with animals, first and the development of their own bodies—which is another way of saying physiology with resourcefulness in danger, the will to endure, the practice of truth, patience, self-reliance and honesty—which is another way of saying mental and moral science.

"Renters dans l'ordre" cried Amel, and so these little ones are guided into the great wide, healing, and upbuilding order of nature.

They are made strong, clean little animals, which ought to be the prime essential in any child training. Keen nosed as dogs, quick eyed as deer, sharp eyed as cats, lithe bodied as foxes, tough and strong as Indians, they have health and vigor, the foundations of happiness and efficiency.

They study books, too, and learn all children learn in classroom, only they learn it by the way. There is no hate of tasks, no dread of recitations and examinations. Better than to leave your child a million dollars is to give him such a schooling as this, to provide him for all his life, with a memory of a happy youth, to furnish him with a childhood flavor of green trees and brooks, play and laughter.

An Impudent Prussian Threat.

Threat

An official proclamation in Berlin that Germans in the United States producing war supplies for the enemy are subject to prosecution in Germany for treason is in line with many other pretensions of the Prussian military into ours. It is a fixed delusion of the war lords that even American citizens of German descent owe and owe reason would acknowledge allegiance to the empire.

In von Bernhardt's most celebrated book, reference is made to the commercial value of Germans living abroad and it is said of them that they may be useful to us politically as we see in America. Discussing the possibility of war between the United States and Germany, Lord May, Count von Reventlow, hinted at addition in this country in these words: "We need not forget that in our difficulties in America had is another side of the business."

Paul Witte, long in attendance at the German Embassy in Washington, writing on the same subject in 1907, quoted a conspirator German in Milwaukee as saying to him: "Germany is absolutely ready for war in America. I have spoken with officers in high positions in Berlin and have heard surprising things. Germany reckons very strongly upon the support of Germans living in the Western States. The idea that several American States are so largely German in population that in the event of war they would secede and set up a Teutonic federation of some kind has been widely cultivated in Prussia. Herr von Holleben at one time German Ambassador here remarked that war between the United States and Germany would have the character of a civil war."

People who are subject to such hallucinations may naturally be expected to threaten as well as to intrigue and plot New York World.

We are not so bad off after all. This county is going to raise an other big crop of cheap cotton it looks like, but there is a thing to be more corn ground, peas, hops, and cattle, etc. than ever before. The Houston county farmer has learned the wisdom of having his smoke house where he can go in to it every day. The western type of smoke house in fact, has lost its popularity with Houston county farmers.

SHERMAN MILLET PROVES TO BE PAYING CROP

Mr. W. T. Griffin, who lives at Light, Ala., experimented this year with one acre of German millet and found it to be a most profitable crop. From this one acre Mr. Griffin sold 17 bushels of the seed at $2 a bushel while the hay saved more than paid all the expenses of making.

Mr. Sam Harrison who lives near Taylor, has also found it to be a profitable crop. He has 5 acres in it and says that he can make more on one acre of the German millet than he can on two acres of cotton.

THREE BOMB THROWERS ARE HANGED AT SOFIA

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 26. Three ring leaders in the bomb throwing conspiracy at the Casino here, February 14 last were publicly hanged yesterday.

A bomb was thrown into the Sofia Casino at 1 o'clock in the morning of February 14 during a gala performance. Ten persons were wounded, including a daughter of the minister of war. A son of General Voyvoda was killed and others died later.

COST OF JOHN BARLEYCORN

The credit side of the account of a city with John Barleycorn is very interestingly advertised by the liquorists. They endeavor to make the public believe that there is no debit side and for too few communities take the trouble to honestly and dispassionately put out of their records to offset the license money paid in by the salaried AL the indignation of Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania. This delightful account with the liquor traffic has been carefully cleaned up and given to the public. It shows that if John Barleycorn costs the city each year more than $2,000,000 that more than one half of the expense of the police department of the great city is made necessary by the liquor traffic. That the present expense of other departments of the city government is made up of 14 and 15 per cent. more than in the budget of 1914. 16 per cent. more in the budget of 1915. 17 per cent. more in ANNUAL MEETING OF AMERICAN PLOWMEN

National Farmers' Union Renders Unselfish Service to Agriculture.

By Peter Radford.

The National Farmers' Union will hold its annual convention in Lincoln Nebraska, on September seventh, and will round out the eleventh year of its activities in the interest of the American plowman. When that convention is called to order every farmer in America should pause and bow his head in honor of the men gathered there to render a patriotic and unselfish service to agriculture. That organization, born in the cotton fields of Texas, has grown until geographically it covers almost the whole of the United States and economically it deals with every question in which the welfare of the men who barn their backs to the summer sun are involved. It has battled for a better marketing system, rural credit, cheap money, diversification, scientific production, agricultural legislation and has carried on its work of education and co-operation in season and out.

The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America brings the question of organization squarely before every farmer in this nation. Without organization the farmers can neither help themselves nor be helped by others and through organization and systematic effort all things are possible.

The farmers of the United States contribute more and get less from government than any other class of business. They have better securities and pay a higher rate of interest than any other line of industry. They market more products and have less to say in fixing the price than any other business and they get more political buncombe and less constructive legislation than any other class of people. The farmers can only acquire such influence in business, in government and in economics as will enable them to share equitably the fruits of their labor through organization and every farmer on American soil who desires to help himself and his fellow plowmen should rally around the Union.

POLITICAL GOSSIPS

When one class of people has anything to say, it has become largely the custom to make a political issue out of it instead of a friendly discussion, to print it in a law book instead of a newspaper and to argue it before a jury instead of to settle it in the higher courts of Common Sense. As a result, political agitators, political lawyers, political preachers and masculine women are powerful in politics and discussion, selfishness, intolerance and hysterics run rampant in public affairs, for when the low, damp, murky atmosphere of misunderstanding envelops public thought it breeds political reptiles, vermin, bugs and lice which the pure air of truth and the sunshine of understanding will choke to death.

We have too many self-appointed interpreters of industry who are incapable of grasping the fundamental principles of business and who at best can only translate gossip and add color to sensational stories. No business can stand upon error and might rules—right or wrong. No industry can thrive upon misunderstanding, for public opinion is more powerful than a King's sword.

When prejudice, suspicion and class hatred prevail, power gravitates into the hands of the weak, for demagogues thrive upon dissension and statesmen sicken upon strife.

The remedy lies in eliminating the middleman—the political gossip—and this result can be accomplished by the managers of business sitting around the table of industry and talking it over with the people. Interchange of information between industries and the people is as necessary to success in business as interchange in commodities, for the people can only rule when the public understands. Away with political interpreters who summon evil spirits from their prison cells and loose them to prey upon the welfare of the people.

HAS KEEN BUSINESS SENSE

Wife of Celebrated Musical Composer Never Neglectful of Business End of Transaction.

A little story told by Les Annales shows that Madame Strauss, the wife of Richard Strauss, the composer, is a woman with a keen business sense; it is perhaps she who has made her husband's reputation as the shrewdest dealer among musicians.

One day a young musician called on Strauss and asked permission to play for him a parody on the famous composer's "Salome." Strauss granted the request. When the young man had finished, Strauss was enthusiastic in his approval. "Very droll! very droll!" he cried. "It will be a success, a great success! I congratulate you."

As the young musician was on the point of leaving, Madame Strauss entered and her husband at once began an enthusiastic explanation. "This young gentleman," he cried, "has just composed a parody on 'Salome'—a truly remarkable piece of work!"

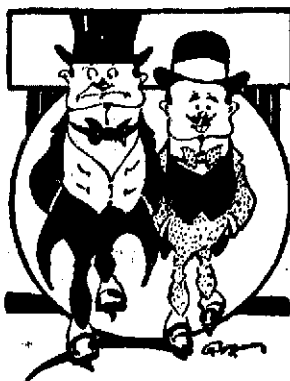

Madame Strauss raised her eyebrows. "What terms have you made?" she asked in a low voice.

"Why, no terms."

"That is no way to do; demand 25 per cent royalties!"

And turning to the writer of the parody, Madame Strauss advised him, with seemingly maternal solicitude, to accept the advantageous offer that the master was willing to make to him. Thus it came about that the parody on "Salome," which as Mr. Strauss prophesied, was very successful, is today a source of considerable income for the Strausses.

ALWAYS RIGHT

De Quiz—Let me see. What great woman astronomer was it who said "I think Mars is inhabited, but I may be wrong?"

De Whiz—It couldn't have been a woman, old fellow.

De Quiz—Why not?

De Whiz—Because no woman ever said "I may be wrong" in anything.

WASTED GENIUS.

We had left Braine-le-Comte, and were walking down the road before we caught up with the transport of the German army. Amongst these men, as they sat stolidly bobbing up and down on the carts, or lolled at ease on their horses, shone out now and then, a fine, powerful, intellectual face. And it revived in me, always, the chief intellectual horror of war. In these ranks, and equally in the French ranks, march incipient Pasteurs and Elchids, born with genius to save suffering in our world; incipient Parades, born with the genius to interpret the forces of this world; incipient Rodins and Sudermanns, born with the genius to bring the beauty out of the world. There they go, on to the chance of death before the guns.—Will Irwin in the American Magazine.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTION.

"What are we going to do, now that Paris can no longer dictate the styles?"

"I think what we should do is to heave a sigh of relief."

THE REASON.

"You won't get me to pass the growler at that saloon."

"Why not?"

"Because it's a bulldog."

TIME FOR ALL THINGS.

"I hear Smith is going to break his wife's will."

"Humph! He never tried it while she was alive."

WHAT THE PUBLIC NEEDS.

"Life is getting to be too complicated for the use of narcotics," said Dr. S. P. Kramer, the noted surgeon, in a recent address at the Ricketts Research Laboratory, Cincinnati. "The time was when the farmer could drive to town and get tanked up and his friends would put him in the buggy and the sober horse would carry him home. But you can not do that now with automobiles. We know that most of the automobile accidents are after dinners where alcohol has been served, and that not always in excess."

After describing the effects of alcohol as similar to those of chloroform or ether, except for the fact that it works more slowly, he considered its effect upon efficiency in various fields of endeavor, and showed charts proving the lowered working power of compositors, bookkeepers and soldiers after they have taken liquor.

"But a friend said to me," remarked Dr. Kramer, continuing the same line of argument, "Doctor, you must know that Mr. Blank, the jury lawyer, is more eloquent in his cups, and that the celebrated actor was more impressive when drinking." I asked this man if he would want his chauffeur, his locomotive engineer, his surgeon, to drink. He said he would not. Now the orator and the actor are in vocal pursuits. Alcohol makes them more passionate. But the judge on the bench knows that the lawyer is less capable of keen analysis when in his cups, and the trained dramatic critic will tell you that the drinking actor is not coming up to what he should. These men are like the court jester. The fact is that the higher centers are off the job. The governor is not acting and the engine runs wild. That is all.

"No one nowadays thinks drunkenness is well. What the public needs is instruction about the destructive effect of moderate indulgence."

EMPTY JAILS.

The following testimony to the advantages of prohibition appeared in one of the newspapers of Sussex county, Delaware:

"The county jail at Georgetown is without a prisoner, and Sheriff Jacob West is idle. The turkey is on his vacation, chickens are roosting in the cells and the jail yard will probably be plowed in early corn unless another applicant appears. The lone prisoner, Elwood Armstrong, who was afraid to stay by himself, was paroled for two years after having confessed to stealing five dozen eggs."

Further testimony as to the workings of prohibition comes from Kalamazoo, Mich. The Gazette of that city on April 5 contains a paragraph headed, "Kalamazoo Without Crime for 18 Hours—Crimeless Period of City's History Follows Knockout of John Barleycorn," and the item reads: "Notions for rent. Apply within." This is the text of a sign which will likely be tacked on the front door of central police station in another week if the period of quiet continues. Not a cell door in the station house has been opened during the last 48 hours. The 'bull pen' is as barren and quiet as an abandoned country church. There has not been a single drunk arrested since Sunday afternoon. Crime in general appears to be at a standstill."

BOYS AND BREWERIES.

A man was trying to convince another that because of the vested interests involved the people had no right to close the breweries. His friend answered that: "I have three boys. By the time I graduate them from college they will have cost me about ten thousand dollars apiece. Every interest of the brewery stands for is diametrically opposed to and threatens the investment that I have made in my boys. No doubt the brewer has more than thirty thousand invested in his plant, but I am going to safeguard my own interests first. I shall vote dry within ten minutes after the polls open if I can get my ballot by that time."

JOHN BARLEYCORN SENTENCED.

In pronouncing sentence on over one hundred men, including the mayor of Terre Haute, Ind., for conspiracy in election frauds, Judge Anderson of the United States district court passed sentence as well on John Barleycorn. He said: "My notion is that the saloon will have to go. I believe that the time will come when the people will rise up and smash the saloon, at least as we have it now. The evidence in this case showed that the saloons were the center of nearly all the corruption in the election at Terre Haute."

PRINTERS AND WHISKY.

"More printers are harmed by whisky than by all the insensate shops in the world," President Wright of the Typographical union No. 16 of Chicago, is reported to have recently said. "Every week dozens of jobless printers come to our relief committee for aid, medical and financial. Whisky is their trouble."

"CATTALO" GIVES GOOD MEAT

Result of Series of Experiments in Crossing Buffalo and Domestic Cows.

"If scientific breeding could have been employed by our forefathers the country would not be up against the problem of how to increase the meat supply," said Frank A. Conrad of Montana at the Raleigh, according to the Washington Post. "Instead of pure beef, however, the people likely would be eating the meat of the cattalo, a cross between the buffalo and the domestic cow. The first experiments of crossing the buffalo and domestic cow were made more than a decade ago by 'Buffalo' Jones. He demonstrated that the cattalo was superior as a meat producing animal to the American steer. Other experiments were carried on by Charles C. Knight in Texas, and Mowbray Ford in Ontario, Can. All of the experiments have shown that the cross produces a much more valuable animal for meat purposes than straight breeding.

"The great advantage of the cattalo lies in the hump, which is one of the characteristics transmitted by the buffalo in the cross breeding. This hump is not a mass of fat, as is popularly supposed, but is formed by neural spines in length fully double those of domestic cattle, and also by huge muscles which lie alongside and fill up the angle between the neural spines and the ribs. In a rib roast of beef these muscles constitute the upper cut. I have partaken of a hybrid roast with an upper cut nine inches deep."

HORRID MAN

Miss Port—The way that man looked at me was positively insulting.

Miss Pike—Did he stare at you?

Miss Port—No. He gave one glance, then looked at something else.

LEARNING MENTAL HYGIENE.

At a conference on mental hygiene in Albany, N. Y., recently, the first gathering of its kind in that state, emphasis was laid not only on the need for understanding the causes of insanity, the danger of alcohol and syphilis, and the perils threatening children of mentally defective or diseased parents, but also on the means for preventing insanity.

The conference urged increased facilities for housing and caring for those suffering from mental disease, and for extended social service, that the environment as well as the health of patients may be improved. A carefully prepared exhibit and a series of moving pictures illustrated these needs of the state and some methods of meeting them.

Male Straphanger—Madam, you are standing on my foot.

Female Ditto—Beg pardon, sir. I thought it belonged to the man sitting down.

BOARDING-HOUSE CHATTER.

"The strong should always assist the weak," said the buff-haired blonde who writes type between meals.

"But it isn't always possible," rejoined the cheerful idiot at the pedal extremity of the mahogany.

"Why isn't it?" asked the key tickler.

"Well, take the butter, for example," said the c. i. "How could it possibly assist the coffee?"

WAS SHE WILLING?

"I wish we could marry," said the poor but otherwise honest young man, "but, candidly, I'm not earning my salt."

"Well," faltered the fair maid in the love scene, "perhaps we could get along without salt."

APPROPRIATE.

"How do you sell your music?" "We sell piano music by the pound and organ music by the choir."—Columbia Jester.

The Sinking of the Leelanaw.

Savannah News.

The chief facts of the sinking of the American steamer Leelanaw by a German submarine are now known and it appears that while they do not accentuate the critical situation between this country and Germany they are not calculated to increase the kindness of the relations between the two countries. The cargo of the Leelanaw was contraband and the commander of the submarine, under the treaty of 1828, between this country and Germany, had a right to order the cargo thrown overboard, but he had no right to sink the ship. The sinking of the ship was an unjustifiable act and Germany will be called upon by our government to pay her owners her full value.

It will be recalled that when the German cruiser, Prinz Ritel Friedrich, sank the sailing ship Frye loaded with wheat and consigned to a British firm, the wheat was thrown overboard and the vessel was sunk. Our government contended that while under the rules of maritime warfare the cargo was legally destroyed, the ship was not. The German government disregarded the rules of maritime warfare but admitted its liability for the ship's destruction under the treaty of 1828, and agreed to pay her owners for her value.

It is assumed that the German government will pay the owners of the Leelanaw the value of that vessel because of the treaty stipulations. But what was the use of sinking the ship? The only excuse given by the commander of the submarine for doing so was that he wasn't in the habit of throwing contraband cargo overboard, and hence, to get rid of the cargo, he had to sink the ship. That is a rather costly way of getting rid of contraband cargo. And it may turn out that Germany will have also to pay for the cargo unless she can show that it was intended for the British forces or for a department of the British government.

It does seem as if in this war the Germans would rather destroy than comply strictly with the law. The wise course for them to have pursued in the case of the Leelanaw was to throw the cargo overboard and permit the ship to proceed on her voyage. Germany gained nothing by sinking the ship. That was simply an inexcusable act. It didn't assist Germany in any way in the war and may cost her a very considerable sum. Anyway it tended to put a little more strain on the relations between the governments of the United States and Germany. As the crew of the Leelanaw were given time to escape, and, in fact, assisted in reaching shore, the Leelanaw case will not be considered in connection with the Lusitania case. The Leelanaw case will not bring the two countries any nearer war.

The Man Higher Up.

Commercial Appeal.

A youth, not 15 years of age, is held under arrest for violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law in Philadelphia. He was caught in the act of selling cocaine to school children. When searched he had an ample supply of heroin, morphine and cocaine on his person. The boy did not know what he was selling. He did not know the habit he was addicted to. He knew that the powders made him feel good. This is why he took them. He felt badly if he did not take them. The children who spent their pennies for the "snow" felt as the vendor did.

The youth is not responsible. He should be reformed, not punished. He should be sent to a hospital or sanitarium, not to a prison.

The man higher up is the brute who should be punished. This human beast who is so corrupt, so murderous at heart, so degenerate should be located and should be punished within the limits of the law.

To kill a man is bad enough. To poison a child—to physically and morally ruin one of tender years—is worse than murder.

Philadelphia seems to be seriously affected with the dope habit among school children. Not more than a year ago one of the high schools was closed because 80 per cent of the pupils were addicted to the habit. One confessor is now in prison because he made candy with a sufficient amount of cocaine in it to give an exhilarating effect. The habit once formed, the victim is helpless.

Where a drug victim is of mature years and knows what is being purchased it is different. Where a youngster buys a powder, not knowing what it is, is a tragedy.

Parents should be warned from this case of the insidious danger that besets their children from this pestilent crime.

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain unperfumed coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and washes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dothan's Liver Tonic" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile creates into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is foul and stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dothan's Liver Tonic on my guarantee.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.
